

TUFFO /DIVE

In the painting, the significant element is the woman's wide open arms. Her head, similar to that of a doll, is turned upwards and even those who observe, do so from above. The openness of her arms is like the openness of the mind: a real demonstration of consent towards others without prejudice. It is the transparency of gestures, the ability to be oneself without compromises. Around this scene there is a sky in motion, fleeting full of stars. Art can be a special opening which goes beyond compromises.

THE WINE

This rosé wine is a young wine like the people who prefer it. An easy wine to get to know. Its colour and flavour are captivating. It is obtained from white wine vinification of black grapes - a technique which renders it a soave. The aromatic linearity is linked to the aroma of red fruits and its fresh flavour recalls a well-bodied white wine. Tasting a rosé is a little like diving into a fresh sensory experience - a dive into taste with smooth contours.
